

Welcome back – Year 6

Dear Parents,

It has been wonderful to see the class full of children again and to see a buzz for learning around the school. The children have settled well into Year 6 and have adapted well to the new routines in place each day. This week in Falcon class, we have been thinking very carefully about our presentation in our books across the curriculum and about how we can show pride in our learning. In RE, we have been learning about the Trinity and how this is represented through art. In Music, we were following the pulse to a piece of music and used body percussion and glockenspiels to follow the tune. We have been focusing on place value in maths this week, particularly with recognising the value of each digit and putting a series of 6-digit numbers in ascending order. In English, I've enjoyed sharing our class text, Macbeth, with the class; it's a tragic story with many complex themes. The children wrote a letter from Macbeth to his wife, explaining about the impending prophecy- I look forward to sharing photos of their final version next week.

Have a good weekend.

Kind regards,
Miss Haurdhan
