

Owl Class

12th November 2020

Dear Parents and Carers,

It has been a lovely week in Owl Class. This week, we have been thinking about Remembrance Day and learning a bit more about why we wear poppies. The children have been very reflective and mature about what is a very important topic. In English, we have continued to read The Highwayman by Alfred Noyes. Everyone has really enjoyed the poem so far and this has led us to do some brilliant drama as one of the characters. In maths this week, we have been learning about multiples, factors and primes; the children have worked really hard and are beginning to use their excellent times tables knowledge to help them to answer questions on these topics. We have also completed a science experiment so that we could learn how to separate different physical mixtures of solids and liquids.

Well done to everyone this week!

Have a lovely weekend,

Mr Charlton and Mrs Searle.
